ANDREA PILOT

A LOAF ABOVE THE REST

When Andrea Pilot decided to come to SAIT, she knew that she wanted to be in a program where she could express her creative side. Culinary studies turned out to be the perfect match for her, so she enrolled in SAIT's Baking and Pastry Arts program.

"I've always heard really great things about the culinary studies at SAIT, so this was an excellent choice for me," said Pilot. "I'm passionate about using various natural, local and whole ingredients to create really wholesome and wonderful baked goods."

Pilot can attest that when you go to school and enrol in something you love to do, success and personal satisfaction come easy.

"Because I was paying hard-earned money to take this program, I definitely put in as much effort as I could," said Pilot. "However, I have to admit that this program came easy to me because I was doing what I love to do."

Pilot's positive attitude about school and her willingness to work hard to achieve her dreams is exactly what made her an excellent candidate for the Johnson Diversey Canada Inc. award last year. She also had a part-time job while attending SAIT, so she was really grateful for being recognized for her efforts and to have some of the financial burden eliminated.

"When I found out that I won the award I was really excited and happy," said Pilot. "Since I have won the award, I notice Johnson cleaning supplies everywhere and I also have a keener awareness of the importance of sanitation in kitchen."

For the future, Pilot plans to zero-in on the things that she does best.

"My specialty is baking bread," said Pilot. "And one day I want to own my own bakery and be able to bake every day."
